

OSHA Safety Training Requirements

Mark your calendar for this 60 minute webinar

DATE: Thursday, August 7, 2014

TIME: 10:00 – 11:00 a.m.

Many Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) standards explicitly require the employer to train employees in the safety and health aspects of their jobs. Other OSHA standards make it the employer's responsibility to limit certain job assignments to employees who are "certified," "competent," or "qualified."

Moreover, some OSHA standards require "training" or "instruction," others require "adequate" or "effective" training or instruction, and still others require training "in a manner" or "in language" that is understandable to employees.

How does all this translate to your workplace? This webinar will help you understand your safety training obligations and industry best practices.

Key Topics

- What training records does OSHA expect?
- What does 'demonstration of competency' mean?
- When might retraining be required?
- What if English is not your employees' first language?

Who should attend?

- ✓ Safety and EH&S managers
- ✓ Human resources managers
- ✓ Operations managers
