OMA Congratulates Acton, Welcomes Opportunity to Work Together

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The Ohio Manufacturers' Association (OMA) congratulated Amy Acton on her election as Ohio's next governor, expressing enthusiasm for working with the incoming administration to build on Ohio's manufacturing strengths and advance the state's economic future.

"Congratulations to Governor-elect Amy Acton and Lieutenant Governor-elect David Pepper on their victory," said OMA President Ryan Augsburger. "Ohio has an extraordinary manufacturing economy, and we look forward to working with the new administration to make it even stronger. Our state is home to remarkable companies, talented workers and communities built around manufacturing. We see tremendous opportunity to build on those strengths, tackle challenges together and ensure Ohio remains a place where businesses and families can thrive."

As the new administration prepares to take office, OMA looks forward to building a strong working relationship with Acton and Pepper, bringing manufacturers' perspectives to the table and finding common ground on policies that support job creation, affordable energy and a growing Ohio economy.
